

A man catches a snake and puts it into a basket. Then he goes to the town. He sits in the street. He opens his basket. Some people come. They look at the basket. They look at the man.

The man takes a pipe and begins to play. The snake listens to the music. The snake stands up and dances this way and that way. The people give money to the man. He puts the money in his pocket. The people are happy. The man is happy. Is the snake happy?
