

Billy lives in the country. But today he is in the town.
He walks slowly through a large department store.
He reads some of the labels on the shelves:

NON-STICK SELLOTAPE

BATTERY POWERED BATTERY CHARGER

INFLATABLE DARTBOARD

HAND POWERED CHAINSAW

A shop assistant comes.

She looks at Billy for a while. Then she asks:

"Can I help you, sir? Are you looking for anything?"

Billy answers:

"No, no, thank you. I'm just looking around."

The shop assistant says:

"Maybe a present for your family? Double sided playing cards?

For a good friend a solar powered lighter? It's very useful.

Or perhaps a gift for your wife? Some waterproof teabags?"

Billy shakes his head:

„No, we don't need any of your things.“

The shop assistant says:

„Come on, make yourself happy.

Buy a silent alarm-clock.“

Billy shakes his head again.

„No, no, I don't want anything. But it's fantastic.

All those things that nobody needs.

Don't you sell any useful things?“

SOME or ANY?

SOME (einige) steht in bejahenden Sätzen,

ANY (irgendwelche, keine) in fragenden und verneinten Sätzen.

Buy ...some... batteries for your camera. – Is there sellotape left (übrig)?

Do you sell teabags? – I'm looking forthing. – Are there department stores in the country? – Can you see shop assistant? – Billy doesn't buy playing cards. –

She buys presents for her family. They don't sell useful things. Can you makeone happy with an alarm-clock? of your things are very useful. Billy has good friends. darts stick in the board. Can you see darts on the floor?

The world's largest department store:
Macy's of Manhattan

Is it a useful thing? The solar powered cigarette lighter

slowly: langsam label: Etikett shelf (shelves): regal to stick: kleben, stecken sellotape: Klebeband inflatable: aufblasbar dart: Pfeil(spiel) chainsaw: Kettensäge to look around: sich umschauen maybe: vielleicht present: Geschenk gift: Gabe, Geschenk lighter: Feuerzeug waterproof: wasserdicht teabag: Teebeutel to shake: schütteln silent: stumm useful: nützlich